Conflict in a team setting is OK, as long as it's managed effectively. Learn about a three-step model that helps you do this. Being able to build and manage a successful team is a qualification for many different types of jobs. When you're being considered for a position that requires managing or being part of a team, you will need to show that you have the team building skills necessary for the job. Conflict resolution skills are a job requirement for many different types of positions. That's because conflict within organizations can reduce productivity and create a difficult work environment, leading to unwanted turnover in staff and reduced morale. Conflict is a normal part of any healthy relationship. After all, two people can't be expected to agree on everything, all the time. The key is not to avoid conflict but to learn how to resolve it in a healthy way.
