There was a tree All in the wood The prettiest tree That you ever did see Now, the tree in a hole And the hole in the ground And the green grass grows all around, all around, and the green grass grows all around And the Green Grass Grew All Around: Folk Poetry from Everyone [Alvin Schwartz, Sue Truesdell] on Amazon.com. FREE shipping on qualifying offers. A collection of rhymes, poems and songs, some over three centuries old, that are a testament to the originality of the American language And the Green Grass Grew All Around: Folk Poetry from Everyone [Alvin Schwartz, Sue Truesdell] on Amazon.com. FREE shipping on qualifying offers. Do your ears hang low, Do they wobble to and fro? If they do, you may be a folk poet! From autograph rhymes to street rhymes In the very first Wonder of the Day, we learned that flamingos are pink because of pigments called carotenoids found in the shrimp they eat. Carotenoids are also found in red, orange, and yellow foods, such as carrots, tomatoes, and egg yolks.
